a CINEMAWALLA presentation

Synopsis:

It is a documentary film that explores various influences that had shaped the filmmaking craft of Satyajit Ray. The influences, borne out of his meeting with many gifted individuals and his experiences of an array of perception-altering incidents had molded his aesthetic sensibilities and had made him what he was. This film attempts to capture all these influences that had imparted alchemic touches to turn him into an auteur of impeccable standing. It explores the aesthetic psyche of Ray that relates his images with his cinematic experiences.

About Director:

Jaydip Mukherjee has been making documentaries for more than 30 years for different Ministries of Government of India, Government of West Bengal and different corporate and private sectors. His films have been critically acknowledged nationally and internationally, including different International Film Festivals like Cinema Peniche, Paris, Edinburgh, Guangzhou and IFFI (Indian Panorama – Twice) and Dhaka. Retrospective of his films were screened at the White Chapel Art Gallery, London and in Nandan (Organised by Films Division). He is the recipient of UN-FAO Award at AGROFILM International Film Festival in Bratislava, Slovak Republic and Silver Plaque at the Ashgabat Film Festival, Turkmenistan.
